OSI Enns Holds Workplace Safety and Environmental Awareness Day

Enns, Austria, October 20, 2017 – The OSI food processing plant in Enns, Austria, shut down its operations in October to commence a Workplace Safety and Environmental Awareness Day.

OSI strives to improve its environmental impact and to reduce accidents at work. Training and awareness are important tools to help reach those goals.

Environmental awareness is an essential part of the entire movement's success. By teaching its teams that the physical environment is fragile, OSI hopes to contribute to solving the problems that threaten it.

Workplace safety is also important, because it creates guidelines for employees to follow. These strategies provide employees a productive place to work. Most importantly, workplace safety produces happier employees.

Four groups were created each group participated in the following activities:

1. Fire extinguishing exercise with Fire Brigade Enns
2. Fire prevention guide and General lecture on behavior in case of fire or evacuation
3. Work safety refresher
4. Environmental Awareness
5. Occupational medicine
6. Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) training
